

Executive Summary

The Tecno-Holidays project is an initiative of I-Vision International in collaboration with international Volunteers to prepare the Cameroon youths to adapt themselves to the opportunities that the ICTs offer and as such participate in socio-economic development and nation building.

This project draws on capacity building, education of fifty thousands (50.000) youths nation wide, to take advantage of the Information and Communication Technologies (ICTs) in general and the Internet in particular to get knowledge, improve studies, embark on revenue generating activities, and live responsibly not just as observers, but as active members of their local communities.

By demonstrating to citizens that they can use these tools at their disposal to improve their social status, be more efficient in performing their duties and as such ameliorate their standards of living, we will contribute to the development of a responsible citizenship and a net drop in classical and online crimes common amongst jobless and disorientated youths.

We need your support

Apart from the Web2.0 and Cyber Criminology seminars, we are planning to:
